Economic Feasibility

One-third of the coast lacks a strong business case to build out the 21st century internet infrastructure that is increasingly needed by business owners, students, fishermen, elderly residents, and others in their day-to-day lives.